Kin/A TR Student Ambassadors

Job Description
The Ambassadors are students who are selected and trained by the academic advisors to promote Iowa State and the Kinesiology Department. Student Ambassadors talk with prospective students and their families, either during campus visits or over the telephone. They give tours of the Forker labs and explain some of the upper level Kinesiology & Athletic Training classes. They occasionally participate in alumni functions or perform other duties that promote the department such as during Homecoming or other special events.

Eligibility
Student Ambassadors must have positive attitudes and meet the following criteria:

- possess good communication skills
- be active in one or more student groups
- have at least sophomore standing
- have knowledge of the campus and university resources
- have experience working with students from diverse backgrounds
- possess leadership ability
- be in good academic standing
- be willing to serve for up to four hours per month each semester

Selection Process
Students need to be available to escort families & give tours for Experience Iowa State sessions (Mondays & Fridays from 9:40 –10:50 on designated dates.) The KIN academic advising staff will select Student Ambassadors based on the information from their applications and personal interviews as needed.

Orientation/Training
Upon selection, Ambassadors receive approximately two hours of orientation and training. Additionally, Ambassadors are required to study and become familiar with the information provided during training.
Student Ambassadors will commit approximately four hours per month throughout the academic year. Each Ambassador will earn $150 per semester. Ambassadors receive a nametag and a KIN Dept. shirt to wear while on duty. Applications are due 9/22/17.

Contact Carol Cordell (515-294-4090) or ccordell@iastate.edu with questions.

Fall 2017 Dance Events

Alvin Edgar Guest Artist Deborah Slater will be in Residency October 15-21 with 2 of her company dancers. The Scholarship Gala Concert which will include her company and new work on Orchesis I Dancers is Saturday October 21st at 7pm in the Betty Toman Studio Theater Forker 196. Other performers and local choreographers include, Paula McArthur, Kathleen Hurley and Dancers, Ken James, Cynthia Adams and others.

Li Chiao-Ping Dance Company is coming to perform 'Landed' December 2nd at 7pm in the Betty Toman Studio Theater Forker 196.

DESCRIPTION OF LANDED (2017)
The 12-person, evening-length, multi-media work, created by choreographer Li Chiao-Ping in collaboration with visual artist, Douglas Rosenberg, examines and explores the immigrant experience, drawing from stories of Angel Island immigrants in the early 20th century and cast members' personal family histories, some recent and some dating back several generations. The meta-narrative of the work brings the immigration discussion closer to home, presenting the opportunity to question and challenge our country’s policies and climate. Ranging in age from their 20s to 70s, the performers share and hold the stage to represent our conjoined and often complicated personal, yet... growth of this project. In addition to post-performance discussions with the artists, LCPD also plans to involve local dancers and community members in the project, either through the recording or performing—danced and/or spoken—of their stories.

Ms. Li’s inspiration for LANDED came from her visit to Angel Island in San Francisco, primary research of original letters and poetry written by immigrants, and her own connection as a first-generation Chinese-American artist. Originally thinking that Angel Island was much like the Ellis Island, she came to discover that this was untrue; most immigrants were incarcerated there and some never set foot as free individuals in the U.S. Through further research and consultation with immigration experts from the fields of Law, History, and Asian American studies, Ms. Li has built a multi-media, choreographic work that investigates the immigrant experience through stories—her personal story, the stories of Angel Island immigrants from the early 1900s, and stories from contemporary artist immigrants who face similar and unique challenges of culture, identity and acceptance today.

ABOUT LI CHIAO-PING DANCE Choreographer and performer Li Chiao-Ping founded Li Chiao-Ping Dance in 1990 and has made Madison, Wisconsin the company’s home since 1993. As a choreographer/director, Li Chiao-Ping has created, produced and performed over 130 works for the stage and screen and has collaborated with many artists, including her long-time creative partner, visual artist Douglas Rosenberg. LCPD’s first production in Madison was in 1995 at the Isthmus Playhouse at the Madison Civic Center. The company was invited to be a resident company at the Overture Center for the Arts in 2006. In addition to performing 2-3 times in Dane County each year, LCPD also regularly tours nationally. LCPD is committed to engaging with its community and audience members through outreach, performance, and mentoring opportunities. LCPD’s educational programs span from youth classes throughout the year to a week-long Summer Dance Camp and Intensive to classes at Madison Senior Center, where Ms. Li has taught since 2001.
Please be aware of the construction taking place in Forker as we work to make our building a more beautiful and up-to-date facility for all those that enter our doors. Thank you for your patience!!
